-From: Zhang Jia Bin Review: The Elden Ring is completely unlike any JRPG that you've ever seen before. A fantasy tale full of battles, quests, and an absolute wealth of character development. It's a visual experience unlike anything else. The first half of the game is terribly slow, with largely static battle scenes, over-designed dungeons with optional challenge modes, and no real gameplay payoff. Once you reach the second half of the game, though, things get much better, with a huge cast of memorable characters and an incredibly tight combat engine that does a good job of channeling the fighting of recent games like BlazBlue and SFV. It's a great way to introduce people to the idea of making a turn-based RPG, and definitely a game worth your time. -From: YoungstrainKoma Review: I came to review this game upon seeing its sales rank move from 50 to 10 on Nintendo eShop. I was eager to see what this truly capable game was, and so I grabbed it off of the eShop. This game is so much better than I thought it would be, and it's a great game for everyone to pick up. Not only does the story take you on quite a ride, and offers you an enjoyable experience with the main cast, but you are allowed to really interact with other characters. You really feel like you are playing this game as a large group. -From: TheDreamScraper Review: A fantastic game that has a lot to offer the genre. I got an early release copy, and it didn't disappoint in any aspect. A very fun and action packed game that will draw you in from the very beginning. The game is challenging, and far from easy. You'll encounter enemies and bosses that are hard, but they reward with lore and new characters that you can bond with to help you fight the next wave of foes. If you're a fan of games like Final Fantasy, Dragon Quest, and Chrono Trigger, The Elden Ring will be right up your alley. GAME FEATURES: ~ A Vast World Full of Excitement A vast world where open fields with a variety of situations and huge dungeons with complex and three-dimensional designs are seamlessly connected. As you explore, the joy of discovering unknown and overwhelming threats await you, leading to a high sense of accomplishment. ~ Create Your Own Character In addition to custom bff6bb2d33

10/31 10:49am Tralal: For those of yu Korvxic as yet an uncle, it's time you begin to burn with the cold flame of hatred, 10/31 8:37am Korvxic: YOU LUNATIC! Bringing dibs on the next Worlds Beyond event. I hadn't expected this much enthusiasm when I proposed the notion of world destruction. Have fun, me. 10/31 5:29am - A game about a giant kicked armored bug's ass. What am I playing? What was I talking about before losing track? 10/31 4:43am - I hate that pro-global warming crowd. I actually get very angry at the idea of supporting any measures to keep us from leaving the environment to hulking, planet-sized monstrosities that toss us about with everystep. OK, bring it on, swarmed mounds of ecto! I like scary nightmares! Living ones are okay, too, as long as they don't bite me or actually make me hate them. Yes, that's all I just said. It's all I think about anyway. (Oh, look, more wind creeping in at the window. It's like the entire world outside wants to infect me.) 10/31 3:37am - A game about giant flying insects unleashed by a god nobody can shut up about it. I'll do that egg. And look, they got close enough to us to let loose a second wave. How do you say that? How do you break that up into tiny bits? That damn speeding up continues. 10/30 6:16pm - We found a monster that could sweep all of us away. I think that's a mistake, but it feels a little bit huge, so I guess that's just how giant bugs of today behave. I bet we could take out the front lines and they'd just start raging harder and harder, until they finally barge right through. That's a hell of an idea. Or not. 10/30 6:14pm - We killed a giant bug, but we couldn't do anything about the swarm. I wish I'd done more that would've scared them off. The blob itself feels pretty badass. Like, kick giant insect's ass anyway. I'm cool with it

It blew my mind, and I thought it was a new way of storytelling and a new way to present a brand. It was like nothing I'd ever seen before. I started thinking about how, given the right tech, music videos could be the new-media equivalent of a commercial. I hoped that powerful, desirable, and tasteful interactive experiences would one day become possible. There were no good music video games in existence when I first started to think about this. So, I made one. - John Donais Another thing that went into the development of the animation department was to see how we could use our limited software to create more lively and expressive animations than was possible before we started. The launch of Queen's Reign achieved all of this. - John Donais I'd been waiting for years to make a fantasy game. Every time I thought about it, I thought of how the point of swords and spells and ballistas and bows and huge castles was to ward off evil. And all of that felt so hackneyed and old. - John Donais I was the company's first employee, and I felt lucky to start my career in the game industry so close to the beginning of the industry's rise.
