New camera systems provide unprecedented insight into the game, with the camera now tracking individual players in more subtle ways – like when they intercept the ball, or try to get a shot away on goal. Also, for the first time, a player's ability to create a chance will be analysed via a new skills rating metric. The football universe has expanded to capture the ever-changing flow of the game. "FIFA 20," which launched in September 2019, was the fastest selling sports title in history, according to the International Data Corporation (IDC) Worldwide Tracker. More than 220 million copies of the game were sold within its first nine months, and more than 23 million licenses for the FIFA Ultimate Team were sold during the launch week for a new game pack that included the FIFA 20 Legend Mode. "FIFA," the most successful sports franchise of all time, has sold over 100 million units worldwide. FIFA Ultimate Team was one of the most popular new features introduced with "FIFA 20." Players were able to customize and progress their created teams, unlocking collectible trophies, team kits, player appearances and more for each team. Additionally, every pack in the game featured at least one in-game Legends card, which could be found in packs or unlocked with FIFA Ultimate Team coins earned by playing matches. FIFA 20 included more of what players loved about FIFA Ultimate Team, including packs, players, kit designs, Legends, revenue, player ratings and more. "FIFA" on desktop is the world's #1 sports games franchise with more than 100 million players around the world. New Features: UEFA ProMotion: UEFA's ProMotion 2.0 technology uses player-tracking data from a series of elite-level football matches. Data from 22 elite-level football matches, 13 men's and nine women's competitions, was utilized by the in-game engine to generate all of the official players' animations. The new additions to the ProMotion engine focus on improving the players' animation and reactions, especially in lower-sided events. For instance, while applying the momentum to a player's body, the momentum now flows outwards and not inwards. In addition, the engine's behavior of the attacking team's feet has been slightly changed. In addition, all players' animations will be enhanced, including lower-sided players, to more closely resemble
