The featured graphics settings are now more detailed than ever, with advanced lighting, fog and depth of field. The Team of the Week, which features the best of the best of the community, brings the game closer to its matchday experience. Stadiums have been developed from scratch to give players the realistic feeling of being on the pitch and live opponents react more realistically. Some additional features include Player Impact, where the new Active Ball Control system creates intense player-to-player battles, and FIFA Ultimate Team, where players can create unlimited dream teams and challenge their friends in head-to-head matches. New player ratings, which were previously based on real-life player performance, have been redesigned for better presentation and improved game feel. They now use the Training Level ranking system, which differentiates players based on the quantity and quality of player skills. This makes the values of new players more appealing, ensuring players who dominate at the Training Level have more realistic playing statistics in game. Multiplayer Improvements

With the release of the 2017 FIFA Confederations Cup, FIFA 18 introduced a more balanced format for the online multiplayer experience. This new format delivers a longer-lasting online experience, with fewer short sessions in the middle of an online match. Hosts now have the option to manage the session length directly from a single-player match. This means that when a match is being played online, the session length can be adjusted to either be full-session, half-session or a shorter session. Players in a half-session receive half the host's FIFA Ultimate Team points throughout the match. The new session management options are also available for Online Seasons, where players get more FIFA Ultimate Team and FIFA Interactive Trophy points throughout the season. Another new feature for Online Seasons is an improved Online Leaderboards, where players compete against each other on the amount of FUT Champions or FUT Master items that they own. For a closer look at the new FIFA 22 features, please watch the following three short videos: The World Cup is once again in Brazil this year and the top footballing nations of the world will battle it out for glory in the upcoming FIFA World Cup. With the new FIFA World Cup Brazil 2017 Pack, The World Cup will be brought to life in amazing new stadiums, with a host of new teams. Teams like Juventus or PSG are now battling it out on pitches that are bigger than ever before. Also new this year are stadiums that have been re-imag

Fifa 22 [2022-Latest]

FIFA is a football/soccer simulation game series created by EA Canada and released for the PlayStation. The series' franchise now encompasses numerous multi-platform titles. In this installment, FIFA introduces the new "Powered by Football" engine, featuring a host of new technical innovations, gameplay improvements, enhanced storytelling, deeper gameplay innovations in all game modes and much more. FIFA 21 will be available in North America on September 3rd, Europe on September 6th, and in Australia on September 7th. INNOVATION Gameplay FIFA is back. Powered by Football, featuring the new "Powered by Football" engine, includes fundamental gameplay advances throughout the full range of FIFA gameplay modes and more than 1,000 new animations - more than any FIFA title in franchise history. New controls allow for diverse on-pitch maneuvering and new situational awareness techniques in the final third of the pitch, and a new "energy meter" represents a player's overall stamina, stamina depletion, and fatigue status. All of these features come together for improved timing, precision, and player control, resulting in a true-to-life football simulation experience. This installment also includes gameplay advances that help improve the presentation and life-like look of the game across modes. New movements, situational awareness and other features reinforce the professional look and feeling of the game, which continue to progress further and further in line with real-world football. Adding to the technological and creative hurdles of delivering such a large game is the inclusion of the new "Powered by Football" engine, a new gaming tech solution employed by EA Sports. As the third-generation of EA SPORTS FIFA, the powered by Football engine is built on a new animation rig, global player-model and lighting technology, unified object and character systems, and a new physics engine. As a result of improved articulation, realistic physics, softer interactions and fluid animation, the new engine delivers unprecedented visual fidelity to the game. Also, the Powered by Football engine has been re-tuned from the ground-up, bringing together the updated engine and enhanced cinematic experience from FIFA 17. Here is a sampling of some of the advances with the new Powered by Football engine. Improved Graphics Upgraded player character models and nearly 900 new animations create a fully-realized, more life-like, and immersive experience. Each player model is comprised of over 250 individual bones to create the most lifelike motion in bc9d6d6daa
