“The new HyperMotion Technology features over 70 different animations,” said David Rutter, Creative Director at EA SPORTS™ FIFA 20. “These animations are not just one-off movements, but a series of multiple animations and transitions between them. With the new technology, the player movements are recorded and dynamically recreated on screen as they would occur in the game.” The result is that actions and movements that players make in real life capture more naturally with increased fidelity in the game. Here are some of the key features for FIFA 22 which allows players to control their very own heroes on the pitch and truly differentiate themselves from others on the virtual playing surface. - HyperMotion Technology - The new FIFA 22 game has been developed with a new animation system called HyperMotion Technology. Every player has specific animations tied to his unique, individual play style and position on the pitch. - Interactive Player Motion - HyperMotion takes into account each player’s individual movement during a match, resulting in more natural player movements and assists based on the player’s on-pitch actions. - Realism - FIFA 22 is packed with important gameplay innovations that make matches feel more realistic and authentic, such as a new weather system, seasonal goal line technology, the accurate handling of free-kicks and goal kicks, new animations for player-ball and player-defender collisions, new celebrations and fight sequences, new skills, and new ball physics to accurately capture how the ball behaves in more complex and realistic ways. - Complete Match Experience - FUT Champions matchmaking and the new player-managable Ultimate Team mode are specifically designed to create a more authentic, immersive and complete experience. And to give true depth to its gameplay and player-control, FIFA 22 introduces the new Dynamic Stance System. This system is a method of gauging a player’s footwork, positioning, and the skills in play when he kicks, headers, dribbles, crosses and receives set-pieces. Here are a few of the graphical improvements in FIFA 22. - Improved Player Kinematics - FIFA 22 focuses on player control and post-match analysis, giving players more control over their play style, positioning on the pitch and their individual positioning in the game. This is shown through improved kinematics (which are also used as animations), more natural player movement, and improved defensive and offensive coverage. - Improved Player Physics

What's new in Fifa 22:

- FIFA 22 introduces “HyperMotion Technology” which uses motion capture data collected from real football players to power the new Highlight Reel Shot Mode. Let your favourite moves become part of a reel and use replays to show the impact - as both a player or a manager - your throws, headers, long and acrobatic shots have on the game. The Motion Reel integrates seamlessly into normal gameplay so no extra game mode is required.
- The Serie A Enhanced Pro Clubs has been enhanced in FIFA 22. Over 300 thousand hours of player feedback have been used to deliver over 30 improvements to the most delicate elements of the game. With this enhanced fan-focused release, you can play as the most successful club of all time, Inter, Turin, and Milan, at the pinnacle of the sport.
- FIFA Ultimate Team players will now receive a notification in-game when they’re awaiting their release in the upcoming FIFA update. This will include the possibility to sync collections, upgrade packs, and collect more than one card of a player.
- We’ve updated our standings system so your team’s actual performance is displayed more accurately through both the Pro Clubs and the Player Career mode. You can choose to view the standings live, or opt for a single timepoint view.
- Penalty kicks can now be performed using any of your player’s limbs. The pivot is now guaranteed, irrespective of where the ball is at contact.
- There have been fundamental changes to the effects when making contact with an opponent’s head. Rather than just causing a distraction, breathing problems and downing players now drastically increase the likelihood of receiving a second yellow or red card.
- The pass trajectories have been updated for the midfielders and defenders to help you predict the direction of the pass more intuitively when defending. Defenders can now approach more aggressively during tackles and, when tackling, will see their opponent more accurately.
