Riff Raff, the Cleveland rapper/actor/comedian, has been hired as a professor of micro-engineering at the Cleveland School of Arts and Sciences. Riff Raff, 29, will teach an introductory course in micro-engineering starting in the fall of 2012. He also will serve as the inaugural speaker in the Headliners Series, a monthly evening lecture series on campus that will feature inspirational or humorous talks, ranging from poets to comedians to athletes. Riff Raff has been an active community member at the Cleveland Institute of Art, where he is performing arts faculty for the theater department and teaching math and physics. He is a board member of the annual December Nights concert series at the Huntington Center and was on the development team for the Cleveland Youth Orchestra. He also is an original cast member of the world-renowned hip-hop cabaret The Jazz Butcher, a Cleveland Institute of Art resident show that won two Tony Awards in 2002. "Riff Raff is an accomplished artist, technologist and community leader, and is the perfect fit for the exciting world of micro-engineering," said school president Joel Seligman. "Our students are at the heart of everything we do, and I'm very proud to welcome Riff Raff to The School." Riff Raff will bring his unique comedic style and enthusiasm for experimentation to the classroom. "I'm excited to meet all the art students and students who are interested in art, technology and music," he said. To listen to him rap, check out the Riff Raff 6d1f23a050
